Overall achievements

Written by Bushra Mukadam

Well done to students for your hard work during the summer mocks and through the autumn and winter term. You have worked very hard and your performance in your exams is a testament of that

Lots of students from this year's cohort have now completed the grammar school exams and performed outstandingly in the Sutton, Kent, Medway, St Olaves, Newstead and Bexley papers. while Many kids passed stage 1 of private school exams (christ hospital School, St Paul's, Alleyn's School and Dulwich)

Well done to Valarie Caicedo-Audino, one of our students, for publishing a poem in a book. She has worked very hard in her sessions and also a big thank you to Sara Ismail for assisting her and making her a better poet and writer. We cannot wait to see what the future holds for you and we are very excited that our tutors were able to help you.

We have attached her work in the next two pages and s we encourage all students to take part in essay and poetry competition. It is a great way to apply your learning while being recognised for it.

Time At Night

Here comes the night
And the lights in the streets shine white and bright
The noise of day
Starts fading away
And boys and girls are resting away
I look at the window and see my reflection
Which gives a sense of relieving protection
The moon is shining in a bright light
And the sun is nowhere to be in sight
There is darkness in the sky, left and right
And the stars are twinkling with all their might
I look at the clock and wonder how much time
My mind has been travelling up in the moonlight
But then I decide to turn off the light
And wish us all a very good night.

Successful launch of Google classroom

Written by Bushra Mukadam

Tess Academy takes pride in being consistent and using Google Classroom as a one stop show for all exam paper and marking. We started using Google Classroom to be more organised with out work and it has proven t be very successful thus far.

We would like to remind all parents that all group work, recording and annotated pages are uploaded on Google Classroom a day after your children have had their lesson. So if you ever feel like your child needs to slow the pace, you can always go on Google Classroom and rewatch the recording and it will feel just like a lesson.

We also encourage students to ask the teachers questions during lessons. This is critical if you want to make the teacher know of the topic they should focus on in the classroom.

Launch of website

Written by Bushra Mukadam

Tess Academy is thrilled to announce the launch of its new website, tessacademy.com.

At Tess Academy, we want to create a space where we are able to answer all our parent's query.

The site features a Q&A section, a list of all the courses, our contact form for any enquiry any parents want to make so that we can answer them and allocate your child lessons more efficiently.

Tess Academy has invited visitors to explore the new website. Please do note that we the contact form is at the end of the page therefore it will require a little bit of scrolling. We also have a student and parent Testimonials page.

Tess Academy started as a tuition centre and has since expanded to selling sweets on our website as a subsidiary. We will soon be launching our very own Tess Academy papers to purchase at tessacademy.com for the 11 Plus exams.

New branch opening in Orpington

Written by Bushra Mukadam

Dear Customers,
As the pandemic has been easing in the UK, many parents have expressed an interest in having in-person lessons. Therefore, we take great pleasure in announcing the opening of our new branch at Orpington in order to cater to the increasing demands of our customers. We promise to maintain the same quality of service and deliver everything that our customers need.

This new venture has been made possible by your immense support and continued interest in our business. We wish to be at the receiving end of the same even in the future.

With best compliments,
Yours sincerely,
Tess Academy

We understand that some parents prefer their child learn in a classroom setting rather than online classes . Therefore we are opening a new branch in Orpington to ensure that Tess Academy is able to cater to everyone.

And lastly, a massive thank you to all the teachers who have worked extremely hard to provide tuition to individual students and groups. Online lessons can be hectic at times but you have persevered through them. Truly, we are very grateful to have you on the Tess Academy team. See you all again in the new year!
